

INTERNET INFIDELS

About Us

The Secular Web is the most comprehensive freethought website on the Internet. Founded in 1995 by students at Texas A&M University, the Secular Web has grown to host thousands of articles and receives around 260,000 unique visitors a month. It is maintained by Internet Infidels, a nonprofit educational organization dedicated to defending and promoting metaphysical naturalism on the Internet.

Our online library has two main sections. The Historical Library incorporates essays on religion by historical figures such as Voltaire, Thomas Jefferson, Thomas Paine, Mark Twain, Bertrand Russell, and Albert Einstein. Rigorous peer review has been introduced for our Modern Library, which includes essays on arguments for and against the existence of God, the tenets of major world religions, faith and reason, science and religion, separation of church and state, mysticism, the paranormal, and even life after death.

Many of the essays in the Modern Library have been written by prominent secular philosophers. We even publish rebuttals to our own pieces, allowing readers to make up their own minds as they navigate the marketplace of ideas.

THE Secular Web kiosk

The Kiosk consists of articles of general interest to secularists which are more informal than those in the Modern Library. Kiosk articles consist of particularly accessible critical essays, reviews, humor, satire, fiction, and opinions. Well-written, well-reasoned, even-handed, and tasteful articles of lasting interest from the Kiosk are typically published once a month as Featured Articles. Featured Articles may consist of popularizations of difficult concepts, nonpartisan analyses of social or other public policy issues relevant to freethought, opinion editorials, book reviews, and first-person accounts of conventions, lectures, and other events.

The Secular Web Discussion Forums exist to allow readers to offer feedback to articles in the Secular Web Library or Kiosk, or to news stories linked from the News Wire, and to encourage readers to engage in formal, one-on-one debates within the Formal Debates forums on topics relevant to the mission of the Secular Web. Relevant debate topics include, but are not limited to, the existence of God, Biblical criticism, evolution versus creationism, skepticism and the paranormal, moral foundations, the separation of church and state, and debates about the validity of particular religions.

Internet Infidels The News Wire

Our News Wire is the most comprehensive survey in existence of media commentary on issues of interest to freethinkers. Keep track of news on church-state separation, activism, bizarre beliefs, evolution and creationism, religious discrimination, the promotion of freethought, Islamism, Hindu nationalism, religious violence, pseudoscience, unbelievers' lives, and religious trends worldwide. Be sure to check out our Eye on the Right section and international list of stories by region.

The Bookstore was developed to allow readers to stay on top of otherwise disparate books on topics of interest to freethinkers. It includes freethought classics as well as the best of new releases.

Translations

Would you like to help promote secularism beyond the English-speaking world? If you are bilingual or multilingual and would be interested in translating Secular Web documents into other languages for publication on the Internet, please contact us at infidels@infidels.org.

Products

We offer debate videos, T-shirts, bumper stickers, and other freethought products.

Help the Secular Web
Stay Online!

While we hope to provide a unique and widely available educational resource for years to come, our ability to maintain the site—let alone pursue other projects—depends entirely on you. Please consider making a donation to help cover our costs today!

We accept online credit card donations through PayPal and US checks made out to “Internet Infidels” at our postal address. Occasional or monthly gifts of $10, $20, $50, and more are greatly appreciated!
